

College Admissions Workshop for Creative Students

For students interested in performing or visual arts and digital media, start thinking about your college admissions now!!

This FREE workshop is for students who want to integrate their creative interests when they search for their "best fit" colleges.

Learn about different college admissions pathways and determine where experts might help reduce the stress and set your student up for success. We'll discuss:

- Careers in visual arts, performing arts and digital media
- Finding your "best fit" degrees, programs and colleges
- What's changed since parents applied to college

Sunday, March 3 at 2pm
