

CODE OF CONDUCT

Camper Expectations at Glen Echo Park Summer Camps

Glen Echo Park R.O.C.K.S!

To make summer camp fun, safe, and enjoyable for all campers, we have one simple rule:

Be kind to each other.

Why? Because that's how Glen Echo Park ROCKS!

Respectful + Open-minded + Creative + Kind = Safe & Happy Campers!

What That Means

- Respect: Treat others how you want to be treated. Use kind words and actions.
- Open-minded: Give new things a try and familiar things a new approach. Listen & learn.
- Creative: Discover, share, and collaborate with other campers.
- Kind: Include others, invite them to join, and build new friendships.
- Safe: Speak Up! If you see or experience someone being unkind or unsafe, tell a camp counselor right away—they're here to help.

What's Not Allowed

- Bullying, Name-Calling or Teasing: Saying mean things about someone or making fun of others is not okay.
- Exclusion: Purposely leaving someone out is hurtful.
- Hitting or Pushing: Physical harm is never allowed. Keep your hands to yourself or on your art!

If There's a Problem

1. Talking It Out: First try to solve problems by talking, listening and understanding each other.
2. Taking a Break: If needed, a short break can calm things down.
3. Parent/Guardian Involvement: If things don't get better, we'll talk to parents immediately to find the best way to help solve the problem.
4. In Extreme Cases: Such as bullying, fighting or other disruptive behavior, we will notify the Parent/Guardian that the camper not attend the remainder of the camp session.

Remember

We are all here to have fun, make friends, and create wonderful memories. Let's all work together to make Glen Echo Park Camps a happy place for everyone! By following these simple guidelines, we can all enjoy a safe, creative summer camp experience.
