Making art connects me to the natural world. I work to capture nature's energy, color, and beauty. Painting en Plein air beckons us to slow down and be aware of what's right here, right now, and at times, transforms us.

Let me take my brush
to the open land, to the shore,
with senses wide-open.
It is then the natural world opens to me -
Transformed, I add color to capture its energy and beauty.
